Mrs. Ollo Mollere and her Happy birthday greetings go this week to two young ladies of Waveland, the Frey Sisters, who cele-brated their birthdays on the same shaped skirt, trimmed with lace land after an extensive tour of day. > girls many more happy birthdays. One of the true signs that summer has arrived, in addition to all the New Orleans folks who open their homes for the summer and week-ends, is the appearance of the traffic light on Waveland's beach at the corner of Beach Boulevard and Coleman Avenue. The light has been up for a week now, but some drivers continue to disregard its meaning. This is one of the busiest corners in Waveland during the summer. Hundreds of people will enjoy the facilities of Wavelands' Municipal Pier this summer, which weans that parked cars and pedestrians will crowd this area even more. Obeying the traffic signal party. This column wishes the

at this corner will help protect lives and perhaps, save one. Sev eral accidents have occurred in Waveland during recent weeks drivers had been more cautious which could have been avoided if and more alert. The job of keeping our town safe in summer is quite a responsibility.

Waveland has one officer on the job to check speeders and other offenders, but it it is impossible for him to be in all places at once. It is the opinion of many that the town could use another officer during the summer months so that the residents as well as the visitors would feel assured that they were being fully protected. Another danger area is Railroad Avenue where many motorists feel they can "open up" with complete disregard for the speed limit. It is up to one of us who gets behind the wheel to observe every traffic rule so that Waveland will have a safe actident-free, death-free summer.

Perhaps our readers will remember the plea this column ran recently asking everyone to be on the look-out for "Mack" the brisdled bull dog that belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Baker Turner of Waveland. "Mack" had been the pet of Mrs. Turner, the former Miss Gerry Fenasci, for over twelve years. One day "Mack" was gone and the plea for his recovery was made public. Our readers responded beautifully, with many of thedeceased, and Mrs. Mayer's this a tip to Sheboygan, Wisconsin area, to service and collect from says it was the thrirll of a lifephone calls giving places and yards where they had seen a dog Age not escential. EXCELLENT TUNG CROP EXPECTED THIS FALL

An excellent tung crop is the prospect at this early date in 1958 according to information secured t in a belt-wide survey made in early May. Abundant rainfall through the first third of May should result in good shoot growth for next year's production, but adequate rainfall during late summer will be needed. The three big producing state are Mississippi, Louisiana and Florida and Mississippi is responsible for about half of the total production. Based upon the survey and consultations with growers, the 1958 crop could be somewhere in I. Estopinal, C. E., dated Dec. 1, the neighborhood of 37 million pounds of tung oil.

Mr. Smith said that preliminary engineering has been ordered on this important Hancock County road and that meetings are planned with the Crops of Engineers to discuss bridges over the Jordan River and La Croix Bayou. Another project of interest to this immediate area, Mr. Smith said will provide better drainage on Highway 90 in the vicinity of Bay St. Louis. The commissionor said that construction of the new Interstate Highway 90 will come in the latter part of the 13-year program. He speculated that the building of this road across the coast will not be undertaken for at least seven to ten years. The gulf coast, he said, is aleady served by one of the finest highways in Mississippi; therefore, making construction of the new facility less urgent than interstate projects in many other parts of the state.

Regarding the Highway 603 project, Mr. Smith said that completion of this highway between Kiln and Highway 90 will greatly benefit the traveling public in this area. This highway has been completed from Necaise to Kiln but is still below state highway standards for the remainder of Fishing has been good again this week with lots of specks, green trout and perch being caught right along. The water has been good most everywhere and the fish are striking at their best. Of course, early morning and late evening fishing is the best.

Among these catching fresh water fish are Joe Glover who is on vacation this week and Luke Elliott, Dec Elliott and Slim Droit, They caught some beauties in the Bayous up Pearl River way. Pearl River itself is still not so good.

High drama, pathos, excitement and music are woven into Walt Disney's feature-length production, the famous "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfts," which is now being welcomed back to the screen to repeat its original triumph at the Legion Theatre. Gulfport Wednesday, June 18th.

The story is that of the op pressed heroine of the Grimm Brothers'f airy tale, of whose beauty the Queen is so jealous that she retreats to her dungeon laboratory to brew spells against Snow White. Then in the guise of a Witch, she makes a victim of Snow White after tracing her to her refuge among the hospitable Seven Dwarfs. Excitement becomes redoubled when the Dwarfs (Dopey, Sneezy, Grumpy, Bashful, Happy, Sleepy and Doc) chase the Witch into the mountains where, just as she is about to roll a great boulder down upon them, a bolt of lightning of buried treasure and concer takes care of the situation.

The Dwarfs, believing Snow White is dead after her experience with the Queen, build a glass coffin for their friend, small animals and birds taking turns guarding it. But romance comes along in the person of a young days and nights of entertainment Prince.
